The value of partnerships

There is a saying, that two is better than one. TPHS believes in networking and creating partnerships with hospitality entities. Such partnerships have great value for the academic project of TPHS and supports the development and nurturing of the students. It also strengthens the strategic growth of TPHS and assists in building strong friendship ties for TPHS.

TPHS Alumni

Elmien Hite is originally from Windhoek, Namibia. She obtained the Advanced Certificate in Hospitality Management as internationally endorsed by the AHA as the equivalent to their Diploma in International Hospitality Management. She is currently working as the manager of 'The Stellenbosch Market', an establishment that aims to bring the culinary and winelands experience which is Stellenbosch to Windhoek. A usual day demands administration, guest service, stock take and marketing. Elmien refers to TPHS as high quality and service orientated. She advises current students and prospective students that the hard work is well worth it. "The qualification opens up doors for you all over the world. Never give up." We wish Elmien much success with her future endeavours.

Zimbabwe Visit

TPHS has been privileged to enroll many top students from Zimbabwe. For this reason, Academic Manager, Ms Erika Theron and Marketing Co-coordinator, Ms Jeanette Barry visited Harare to create further awareness of TPHS and the opportunities on offer for Zimbabwean learners who are considering a career in the hospitality industry. School visits proved most valuable while the kindness and hospitality of Zimbabwe was top notch.

CANSA

CANSA

TPHS participated in an annual event organised by The Cancer Association of South Africa (CANSA). CANSA is one of the leading cancer control organisations in Southern Africa, funds cancer research and influences policy makers. The event was hosted in Stellenbosch with over 400 participants. The TPHS table won the category award for the best interpretation of the theme "Fresh". The creative team who was responsible for TPHS winning the award was Academic Manager, Ms Erika Theron and Event Co-ordinator, Ms Elni Le Roux.

TPHS visiting with partners

The second semester students of TPHS recently undertook three educational visits to Zevenwacht Wine Estate, Neethlingshof Wine Estate and Spier Wine Estate. They had the opportunity to meet with staff from the establishments and were treated to insightful presentations by managers. They received insight into the importance of business communication within a tourism and hospitality environment, how events are coordinated how critical cultural diversity training is for the success and sustainability of such establishments. TPHS acknowledges the vital role that these establishments play in the academic project of TPHS and supporting the future leaders of hospitality.
